NORTH HAVEN BOAT PROBLEM

Mail Craft Will Use Public Landing—Waiver To Be Asked For Other Privileges

The desire of North Haven residents to have their mail boat, the Juliette M. made also available for passengers and freight, and that it be provided with a more satisfactory landing place in Rockland was forcefully expressed at a Chamber of Commerce meeting Wednesday at which the island spokesmen were Thomas W. Lamont of New York and C. C. Felton of Hamilton, Mass., prominent summer residents of the island town; and Representative Lloyd F. Crockett and Herman Crockett of North Haven.

A half-hour session, which found the local Chamber of Commerce in thorough accord with North Haven's wishes, resulted in the assurance that the mail boat will be permitted to dock at the Public Landing, while, upon suggestion of Mayor Edward R. Veazie a waiver will be asked from the navigation authorities in Portland allowing the mail boat the privileges of carrying passengers and freight.

Representative Crockett outlined North Haven's case in a brief statement, which his colleagues agreed, covered the situation admirably. He said that the Juliette M. had carried passengers until a week ago, when her captain was informed it would not be permitted. The difficulty in this respect was to have the boat so peppered that passengers may be carried.

North Haven people had been informed that the boat could not use the Rockland Public Landing, but this idea was promptly discarded by Mayor Veazie.

[EDITORIAL]

A Federal representative, who visited Rockland yesterday, stressed the necessity of correlation of citizens and the men in the service. Looking the territory over with the critical and discriminating eye which his duties require he reached the conclusion that not only is Rockland's heart in the right place but its citizenry is disposed to do all in its power to make the armed forces at home here, and pass the word along that it's a jolly good place to be in. What our townspeople are doing in behalf of the service men is already familiar to all who read this newspaper carefully, but to be a complete success the citizens must extend their efforts beyond what is now being done or planned, for the Federal inspector looks ahead to the coming Winter when the armed forces here will be doubled, trebled or maybe quadrupled. It behooves the community to not only make the service men feel at home, but to help the community itself. Out of Rockland during the coming months will go many letters and the more cheerful frame of mind they exhibit, the better it will be for Rockland's reputation during the crisis, and beyond it. If a letter should tell the young man's Western or Southern relatives that Rockland is a dead community and doing nothing to make him contented, and to uphold his morale, the effect is going to be depressing. We want him to write that the citizens are doing everything in their power to make him happy, just as our boys are writing home from the West and South.

In Portland a colored poster is issued informing the service men what the city's attractions are to be for the coming week, and the sample displayed by the Federal man was a revelation as to the diversions of the State's metropolis, with baseball, music and dancing looming very large.

That was a fine piece of thoughtfulness on the part of Joshua N. Southard, UNIDENTIFIED chairman of the welfare department, when he caused a section of the city property to be set aside for the burial of unknown sailors, whose bodies are brought to this port. Burial in the pauper section he did not consider a fitting end for men who are serving the country these perilous days, just as certainly as though they were bearing arms and fighting the enemy. The men who man the ships which are conveying food or war materials are heroes in their own right, and it is entirely fitting that they should sleep in heroes' graves. Chairman Southard has again exercised judgment that has much to commend it. When the war closes a suitable memorial may be erected.

We read with a great deal of satisfaction the statement in a Portland paper that 11 of the 18 vessels built by the Todd-Bath concern for the British government had made their first Atlantic crossings safely and discharged their very necessary cargoes. No explanation was made as to what fortune befell the other seven, but the successful crossing of 11 was worth all of the effort, time and money which have been devoted to their construction.

Wendell Wilkie rises to statesmanship in his proposal that our war objectives be kept out of the coming Congressional campaign. He soundly says to his own party that the war cannot be made a campaign issue, and that the politicians accept the great verdict of the nation on the task to which the country is now committed and see to it that politics is so handled that it cannot endanger that national unity of purpose which must be preserved.—Boston Globe.

Mr. Wilkie leaves an ample area for debate in suggesting a thorough discussion of the efficiency of the government's war effort. His own pointed remarks about certain administrative measures make it clear that he means no shuffling of opposition criticism of the conduct of the war. He asks only that the politicians accept the great verdict of the nation on the task to which the country is now committed and see to it that politics is so handled that it cannot endanger that national unity of purpose which must be preserved.—Boston Globe.

The Army's Needs

Busy Shops and Shipyards Do Not Help the Aged and Infirm

The campaign of the Salvation Army to raise $2500 for its local social, charitable and religious work is progressing steadily. A small force of workers is being used in the drive with the thought of disturbing the routine life of this busy community as little as possible.

Brigadier Osmond of Boston is in general charge of the effort and finds a warm spirit of friendliness on every hand toward the Army and its fine local work. It is a sort of paradox to note that the charitable effort of the local Salvation Army branch has not been materially reduced by the great need for working men and women. The fact is that most of the Army's local work is not with relief cases, but with borderline folks, struggling against age and other handicaps, and too proud to accept public aid. They're proud to do without. Many beyond working age, but able to help themselves to a limited extent, also turn to the generous arms of the Salvationists. Hence, the need is there, the work is too well known to need explanation, and public contributions are urgently needed and cordially welcome.

Young Boy Drowned

Tragedy Occurred At Vinalhaven Where the Lad Was Fishing

Gilbert Warren, aged 10, son of Risty Warren and Mrs. Frances Smith, while fishing, Tuesday afternoon, near the mill stream in Carleton Pond, fell into the water and was drowned.

Leland Warren dove after the boy and with the assistance of Thomas Polk, recovered the body and brought it on shore. Dr. Errol Mills, a summer resident, was called and artificial respiration was tried for several hours. Dr. Mills was assisted by Lorna Swears, R. N., Betty Dearborn, Elizabeth Hopkins, Lucy Skoog, Andrew Gilchrist, Lawrence Heath, Charles Mitchell, Nathan Pulling and others, but to no avail. Upon the arrival of Medical Examiner, Dr. H. J. Weisman of Rockland, the boy was pronounced dead.

In Municipal Court

Maud Mason of Rockland street, was in Court Thursday on a charge of keeping a house of ill-fame. She pleaded not guilty. The hearing was continued.

Raymond A. Walsh and Maud Mason were charged in Municipal Court Thursday on a statutory offense. They pleaded not guilty and were acquitted.

Dorothy Walter and Hector A. McDonald were brought into court on a statutory charge Thursday. They pleaded not guilty but probable cause was found and they were bound over to the November term of Superior Court, and were ordered to recognize the sum of $300 bail each.

BLACK & GAY, CANNERS

OVER WENT "FOURTH-STAGERS"

Warden Hallowell Planted 25,000 At Hurricane and Vinalhaven Wednesday

The Patrol boat Nina B. commanded by Capt. Eugene L. Ladd, plied along the shores of Hurricane Island and Vinalhaven Wednesday while Warden Frank Hallowell dropped 25,000 fourth stage lobsters into the kelp.

Along with them went 300 egg-bearing lobsters, taken from the Hewett's Island pound, and liberated as nearly as possible on the grounds from which they were originally taken. Not so many of the egg-bearers are being released nowadays, for the reason that the catch is being so culled that only the male crustaceans enter the pounds.

Three weeks ago a similar quantity of "fourth-stagers" was released along the shores of Matinicus and Cribhaven.

Under the system which was in vogue for many years it was the custom to release lobster fry from the U. S. Hatchery at Boothbay Harbor. Skeptical that many of them ever attained adult age scientists brought forward the plan of "planting" fourth-stagers, on the theory that the youngsters were able to take care of themselves, and live to maturity, or until caught.

And so for the past four years the wardens have been releasing fourth staggers which were nurtured at the new Boothbay rearing station. So successful does this system appear to have been that the Department of Sea and Shore Fisheries, determined to have another rearing station, and selected a location at Lamolne. Plans were being made for the construction and equipment of the proposed station when the matter of priorities intervened, and no station could be built this year.

Warden Hallowell told The Courier-Gazette that the supply of lobsters along the Maine coast is on the increase, and that the catch is surprising many of the fishermen.

THE BLACK CAT

By The Roving Reporter

Sweden has suspended motor coach transportation on Sundays to conserve tires. But who wants to travel in Sweden these days!

The war has not extracted the Nation's sweet tooth, for I note by the Department of Commerce report that two and one-half billion pounds of candy, valued at $400,000,000 were sold during 1941.

In Great Britain clothing is rationed so that it permits only about one-half of prewar purchases. And walking along Main street these days the casual observer notes that many women are wearing considerably less than half the pre-war clothing.

A stranger gazed peeped at a passing motor car which bore the mystic symbol "A and Z." What that for? he gasped. Patrolman Eddie Ingraham had his customary ready reply. "Haven't you heard," he said, "of people who know everything from A to Z? Probably the owner of that car does." The stranger went away, apparently satisfied with the explanation.

"I knew I wouldn't like it, but I thought I'd give it a try," says Walter C. Ladd, referring to the day he entered the Maynard S. Bird insurance establishment. That was just 33 years ago. "I am still trying it," remarked the well known insurance man yesterday.

Tuberculosis kills more persons between the ages of 15 and 24 than any other disease. Census figures reveal. It also causes 14 percent of all deaths of persons aged 25 to 44. "White Plague" indeed!

A would-be chicken fancier had some difficulty with her flock and wrote the Department of Agriculture:

"Something is wrong with my chickens. Every morning when I come out I find several lying on the ground cold and stiff, their feet in the air. Can you tell me what is the matter?" Soon she received the following letter from the Department:

"Dear Madam: Your chickens are dead."—Winder News.

Iron fences which surrounded stately English mansions have been sacrificed in the drive for metals campaigns, and the movement has recently spread to this country, along with the devotion of old cannon to the war cause. Here in Rockland we have few iron fences, but in the heart of the city is the Grand Army lot on which are located two old Civil War mortars and two heaps of cannon balls, with which mischievous kids used to perform bowling stunts before Janitor Thomas had them cemented into one-piece displays. It would be a matter of regret, of course to lose these souvenirs.

Mrs. H.T. Crockett of North Haven had growing in her garden a delphinium 7 feet, 9 inches long, and is wondering who can beat that. Page John Doherty of Rockland.

As a farmer "Jerry" Burrows is a mighty good lawyer. Early in the Spring he bought a large quantity of broccoli seed, and out of the kindness of his heart divided it with other amateur farmers in his neighborhood. Broccoli is a sort of a cousin to the cauliflower, but it was neither broccoli or cauliflower which proceeded to take possession of Jerry Burrows back-yard garden. From its very infancy it thrived and spread and in due season it blossomed and the Burrows garden and the gardens of his neighbors are today possessed of the finest crop of mustard plants in existence. If you feel inclined to draw the former county attorney into conversation you had better talk law instead of broccoli.

"Game called on account of the dim-out." That's the latest entry in the baseball column, due to twilight games being unfinished when the hour arrives for dimming out the lights in the coast defense zone. I have frequently seen ball games called on account of fog, but stranger than that I have seen warship trials on the Rockland course postponed on account of dense smoke from forest fires.

One year ago! Rockport's 16th annual regatta and Sportsmen's show was in full swing. The city clerk's office had issued 180 bicycle licenses. It was estimated that there were 500 bicycles in the city. —Steamers W. S. White and North Haven were carrying many Sunday excursionists (oh, oh)—E. G. Nelson of Rockland died in Camden, aged 71. Lewis W. Kaler died in Waldoboro, aged 80.

Deer Isle Bidder

For Construction of Seagoing Tugs—Stockton Yard Also Bids

Only two bids were received from Maine shipyards for 150-foot seagoing tugs, opened Wednesday by the Maritime Commission.

The two Maine bidders were the Deer Isle Granite Corporation at Stockton and the W. H. McPherson Construction Co. of Bangor. J. J. McGuire of the Deer Isle Company was present at the opening of bids. McPherson bid to build the tugs at the Stockton Springs yard.

Deer Isle bid $850,000 each for two tugs under Clause A, which is fixed price; and $825,000 for each of two under Clause B, which is adjusted price to cover changes in labor or materials cost. McPherson bid $800,000 for the tug, of $775,000 for each of two under Clause A and did not bid under B.

Book Review

(By K. S. F.)

The Kellyhorns. Author Barbara Cooney. Published by Farrar and Rinehart, Inc., New York. This story is located on Indian Island, off the shores of our own State, as Maine is the seat of most of the especially interesting novels of today. So here comes this keenly sensitive study of country life on our coast.

This brilliant young lady, a graduate of Smith College and already an author of charming imaginative ability in her "King of Wreck Island."

Her new story carries with it local interest by its references to Waldoboro, Thomaston, South Thomaston, Camden Hills, Vinalhaven, The Courier-Gazette and Rockland. Miss Cooney lives at her family's delightful home at Waldoboro Summers, and in New York winters. The author is also the clever illustrator of this fascinating story for the young, but not only youth will find much to enjoy in the every day language, heartfelt and real, in the story of these Kellyhorns. The ins and outs of village life she reproduces on her canvas with atmosphere and color perfectly blended. Besides Penny and Pam, the twins, the diversified characterization of these rural people, their sorrows, their joys and their quarrels, one finds many tears that come near the surface.

The book is dedicated to Barbara's twin brother who must, surely, feel deep pride in the prowess of his sister, who besides being an accomplished artist in black and white, has a sure future of distinction with her pen. Young or old, here is a delightful study full of imaginative atmosphere and heart.

Story and Verse for Children. Selected and Edited by Miriam Blanton Huber, Ph. D. With Decorations by Boris Artzybasheff. Publishers, The Macmillan Company, New York.

This highly valuable compilation of story and verse for children will win many adult readers as its colossal importance proclaims. It really is a literary encyclopedia of the best selections of prose and poetry that is extant, and is impressive as literature of enduring value. In the foreword, the author tells a deep truth: "Love of literature cannot be taught, but it may be caught."

Interests in reading matter changes too much with times, thus much that is deeply valuable to youth and old alike might easily be lost. This book is a great appendix for readers from Literary References to Mother Goose origin and rhymes. Then stories and old tales and legends are here again. In verse is found those best loved poems from days gone, and also modern loves. In Fairyland lore one can find a feast of charm. The make-believe so loved by the young, then comes animals in the feathers and fur sections, which will thrill and delight. Humor is not left out, neither is our country and guideposts in story and verse. The making of America, workers

WORKING FOR VICTORY

(The Courier-Gazette has inaugurated a new department, by grouping all news items relating to those from Knox and nearby Counties who are in the armed service. We will welcome any contributions relating to them.)

Private Robert Rackliffe, 259 Talbot avenue, Rockland, has recently been graduated from the Academy of Aeronautics LaGuardia Field, New York. The Academy of Aeronautics is one of the civilian schools selected by the U. S. Army Air Forces to train enlisted men as Airplane Mechanics.

Pvt. Charles A. Trask, son of Mr. and Mrs. Urban A. Trask of Appleton, is enrolled in the airplane mechanics course at the Army Air Base in Lincoln, Neb. Upon graduation, Private Trask will be rated as a fully qualified airplane mechanic and will be assigned to a permanent Air Force squadron for active duty.

Area Rent Administrator John J. Keegan announces that registration of rooms by operators of hotels and rooming houses, due to the war, is now in effect. The new law provides that all rooming houses and hotels within five days, will be extended through Aug. 31. Dates for starting this registration will be announced later through the press. This registration originally scheduled for completion Aug. 15, covers such types of living quarters as hotels, rooming houses, boarding houses, dormitories, auto camps, residence clubs, tourist homes and cabins, and trailer camps—even the ground rented as space for a trailer.

Sulo Vuori is with the Academy of Aeronautics at La Guardia Field, New York, a member of Class 40. Glad to hear from friends.

Carl H. Kallio, son of Mrs. Raymond Cross, has enlisted in the Army Air Corps at Miami Beach, Fla., and later will be stationed in the Air Corps School, Denver, Colorado.

Oscar J. Simmons, a Knox County boy who enlisted in the Coast Artillery in December, 1940, has been promoted to sergeant. He is the son of the late Vernon E. Simmons and Mary Burke Simmons. Sgt. Simmons has just been transferred from Fort Eustis, Va., to Camp Edwards, Mass., and was at his home in Lawry for the weekend.

Charles Duff, Kent Glover and Ellis Hastings, who recently joined the Coast Guard forces in Boston, were transferred to West Point, Maine, together with Pat Welch of South Boston, who is in Maine for his first time. The local boys were hardly expecting an assignment so near home, but probably are not deeply chagrined at being located in this popular Summer resort.

Vinalhaven Boy Scores Edward H. Smith, Vinalhaven, Maine, recently graduated from the Aviation Radio School at Jacksonville, Fla., as one of the top-ranking men in his class. In recognition of his $7.44 average, he was promoted to the petty officer rating of Aviation Radioman, 3d Class and will probably be assigned to a Navy air squadron for further duty. He is the son of Mrs. Leola B. Smith, Vinalhaven, Maine.

Smith was chosen for specialized training in aviation radio because of his aptitude for the work while at one of the naval training stations. At the Navy's Service School, he went through an intensive course in radio theory and procedure, semaphore and signal flag communication, aerial gunnery, radio code and blinker code.

"I've learned a lot about radio down here," said Smith. "I would say that if a person is interested in the field, he'll find plenty of opportunities in the Navy."

The 20-year-old petty officer attended the Vinalhaven High School.

Mrs. Helen Merrill of Georges River road reports that her husband Pvt. Hansen Douglas Merrill has been transferred from Camp Lee, Va., to Camp Gordon, Ga., and would like to hear from his friends. His address is Pvt. H. D. Merrill, 316th Co. 2, Qm. M. T. Camp Gordon, Ga.

Melvin Topacka, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Topacka, Georges River Road, has been promoted to chief radio man in the Boston Federal C. Office.

Corp. Tec. Woodrow P. Anderson, who is home on a two week's furlough, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Anderson, Warren street.

Wilson (Whity) B. Ames is discharged from the U. S. Army at Lowell General Hospital at Fort Devens, Mass., on account of diabetes and their work, with biographical sketches. Altogether, this certainly is a brilliant addition to stories and verse for children and children of older growth who still hold sentiment and romance as necessary for a rounded life. The book beautifully bound and printed for long use and enjoyment, decorated with charm and taste. Nothing could be more appropriate for a birthday present for young or old than this excellent compilation in one book The Macmillans have just brought out.

DISPOSING OF WAR RUMORS

Authoritative Answers To Ten Which Many Of You Have Heard

The Boston Globe's "Victory Forum" conducted by Robert Knapp, chairman of the Division of Propaganda Research, Massachusetts Committee on Public Safety recently published comment upon 10 typical war rumors, and it is so interesting and so important for our readers to know that The Courier-Gazette is reproducing the story:

The Peace Rumor
Wall Street is betting 10 to 1 that peace will be here by Autumn, by Christmas, by next Spring.

Comment—This sort of rumor is the delight of Dr. Goebbels. It is absolutely false. This rumor has been checked with all the authorities available and received outright denial on every hand. Such a story encourages complacency, instills false optimism, and undermines the will and determination for an all-out war.

The Wedge-drive Against Our Allies
England, Russia or China will make a separate peace and leave us holding the sack.

Comment—This fits perfectly into the Nazi strategy of "Divide and Conquer." Just as earlier in the war, the Nazis bent every effort to disrupt the loyalty between France and England, so now they are trying the same old game on us. It is not possible to give a factual refutation to this rumor since it is pre-dictive in character, but the spirit which inspires the Russian troops today and the refusal of England to entertain peace offers, even in the months after Dunkirk, suggest that we need have little apprehension on this score.

The Wedge-drive Within
The Jews are taking drugs and injections so that they may escape the draft.

Comment—This is a typical Nazi type of rumor. Like the preceding one, it is designed to create suspicion and distrust within our own country, to further the Nazi strategy of "Divide and Conquer." This story is a vicious attack upon both the efficiency of the Selective Service and upon the Jewish people. Although requests have been repeatedly issued that anyone knowing of such practices report them to Mr. Brandon, United States District Attorney, none have been reported to date. No figures are available on the relative numbers of Catholics, Jews and Protestants in the Army at the present time. But if the record of the Jews in the past means anything, it is noteworthy that in the last war, they contributed to the armed forces, according to a recent report published in the Congressional Record, 50 percent more men than fair representation required.

The Sensationalistic Rumor
A submarine was captured and all the members of the crew were found to have Boston Theatre stubs in their pockets. (Another version: They had bread from a Boston bakery in their hands.)

Comment—This sort of rumor is really a bit of folklore. This same story was told during the last war, and it has been repeated not only all over America, but in England as well. While it does serve to undermine confidence in our coastal protection and counter-espionage system, it is comparatively harmless. The chief motive for telling such a story seems to be the universal human desire to claim the limelight for a moment by revealing some "inside dope."

The "Gripe" Rumor
Rationing is not necessary. There is plenty of rubber, sugar and gasoline.

Comment—This sort of rumor is a fine demoralizer. The Nazis know that nothing can break down a co-ordinated war effort in America as efficiently as faith in government regulations. Their short-wave radio regularly broadcasts rumors of this sort. Of course, this kind of rumor has its foundations here at home too. For the fellow who wants to find an excuse for not abiding by regulations himself, it is a good rationalization to say that the regulations really are not necessary anyway; that everybody else is breaking them so why shouldn't he. It eases his own conscience to hear or to manufacture such stories, and it betrays clearly his 50 percent "all out" mentality.

The Terror Rumor
A troopship was sunk off Provincetown with a loss of 15,000 troops. Bodies are washing up along the shore in such numbers that the whole Cape is blocked off.

Comment—This is one of the fantastic reports which grew out of the sinking of a ship off Provincetown last month which actually did entail a considerable number of casualties, 30 odd according to the Navy. Wartime censorship prevented the immediate release of the story and so it traveled by the grapevine. The horrifying exaggerations, which we have in this version testify, both to the inaccuracy of rumor generally, and to the operation of fear and anxiety in exaggerating the losses. Clearly this sort of rumor-mongering does no one any good. It may instill needless alarm in the hearts of the wives and parents of men in the service and tends to destroy confidence in the good faith of our government censors.

The Pipedream Rumor
Japan cannot last six months.

Comment—This rumor, which was current shortly after Pearl Harbor, has already shown itself to be the product of cozy wishful thinking. Like the rumors of impending peace or victory, it delights our enemy, for its effect is to assure complacency and over-confidence. Think before you Telephone!

YOU CAN HELP speed important war calls if you'll please remember two things. First, to reduce the number of your non-essential long distance calls. Second, to make all your telephone calls briefer.

"Sure" — you say — "I'll do my part. I don't want to delay any urgent war calls. But, what's the story? If telephone lines are so crowded, why not build some new ones?"

Well, we can't build enough of them because copper, rubber, aluminum and other necessary materials are just not available. They're going into war machines. The telephone service that's available now is all there is going to be for the duration. We have to do the best we can with what we have.

That's why we're asking your help. And that's why we're saying... Think before you telephone.

New Scrap Drive
To meet the nation's war needs for scrap iron and steel and other salvage materials, a new intensive drive will be launched this week. It is announced by Percy Keller, town manager.

A collection depot has been established next to the Fire Station. Scrap and other salvage materials which people wish to donate should be taken to the Fire Station where there is always someone on duty who can receive it. This scrap will be sold to the waste materials trade and the proceeds go to local charitable fund connected with the war effort, such as the Red Cross, U.S.O.

Persons wishing to sell their own scrap iron, metals, and rubber may leave word of the Chamber of Commerce, 100 Main street, or at the Elm Street School (tel. 8461) and if there is sufficient scrap to warrant the trip, the junk dealer will be notified and will call at the home on his next visit. Small amounts may be taken to the Fire Station.

While filling stations are no longer receiving rubber, this is still much needed and may be taken to the Fire Station, or sold direct to the waste dealers.

Fats also are needed, but these must be taken to the grocery stores in amounts not less than a pound, and the prevailing price will be paid for these. Fats must be in wide mouthed, clean cans, strained if it is clean, and not rancid. They will be accepted by the grocers on any days except Friday and Saturday.

There is at present no scrap market for paper, but this may be held, though the fire hazard must be carefully considered.

Call the Information Bureau 8461 to put your scrap in the scrap.

Rug Club's Exhibit

Featuring the Tea Given On Wednesday At Home of Mrs. Harriet Frost

The home of Mrs. Harriet S. Frost made an attractive setting for the delightful tea which was given by the finance committee of the Women's Association of the Congregational Church Wednesday afternoon. An exhibit from the three rug clubs did Rockland proud. These fine pieces of art were made under the direction of Mrs. McEwee of Union, who is an expert at the work. Miss Medora Thordike, who is visiting in Rockland, from her duties as kindergarten teacher in East Boston, had an excellent display of dolls on exhibition. Doll collecting happens to be Miss Thordike's hobby, and most of these prizes have been gifts from her many friends. Some were unique dolls of cornstalks and cotton balls, others were made of sponges.

There were also elaborate European and American character dolls, some of which had won prizes in exhibitions at Boston. At the tea Wednesday the guests were asked to vote again on the most attractive, or most interesting doll, and it may be of interest to note that the French Flower girl was voted most popular.

Mrs. Charles A. Emery is also a collector of dolls and has a good start made on an Indian group. In the lovely walled-in garden with its bright umbrellas, tables, refreshments of ice cream and fancy cookies were served by three charming young ladies, the Misses Grace Bowley, Louise Smith and Ruth Spear. Mrs. Rhama Philbrick was in charge of the refreshment table. Miss Polly Spear was at the door in charge of tickets. The ladies in charge of the general committee were Mrs. William Graves, Mrs. Ralph Smith, Mrs. Eva Sleeper, Mrs. Archie Bowley, Mrs. Donald Fuller, Miss Mabel Spear and Mrs. Roy Welker.

Betty O'Brien was hostess at her home on Berkeley street, Thursday night. Those in attendance were Faith Long, Ruth Robinson, Virginia Witham, Betty Holmes, Christine Newhall, Louise Vezie, Elaine Poust, Joyce Mitchell, Ruth Emery, Ruth McMahon, Joan Look, Shelby Glenningden, Dorothy Havenner, Pauline Havenner, Marie Berry, and Gloria Witham. Games were played and a social evening was enjoyed by all the girls. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Catherine Libby has returned from a trip from New York and has as a guest, Miss Edna Baggerly of Brooklyn.

Miss Irene Louraine is home from Washington, D. C., on her annual vacation.

Richard Irving, who was a favorite with a large group of the social circle of Rockland and an artist in floral work, recently employed at The Silsby Flower Shop, is in the news twofold, for he was lately married to the charming Miss Mary Calderwood of Johnston, N. Y. Word has come of his promotion to First Lieutenant in the Navy and the surprise is not great as this is just what we expected of Dick.

London, Aug. 1.—The death today of John (Jack) Horner of Yorkshire marks the passing of another member of the family whose name is a nursery byword.

Mr. Horner was a descendant of Sir John (Jack) Horner, who gained his title and estate for delivering an important pie to London centuries ago. The first John Horner, hungering en route to the great city, cautiously opened a corner of the pie for a tidbit and discovered the contents. These he succeeded in getting vested in his name, or so the story goes.

Third In Series

Curtis String Quartet Again Delights a Large Audience

The Curtis String Quartet presented the third concert in its Summer series Sunday night at the Bells Boat Barn, before a large and distinguished audience. The musicians were in fine fettle and the program shown below was of unusual content, varied and interesting.

Quartet in F flat major, opus 33, Haydn
No. 2, Milhaud-Jaffe
Allegro Moderato
Menuetto Scherzando
Largo
Country Dance, Beethoven-Jaffe
Tijuca (Brazilian Tango), Milhaud-Jaffe
The Little Negro, Debussy-Jaffe
La Oracion del Torero, Turina
(The Invocation of the Bullfighter)
String Quintet in G major, Brahms
Allegro non troppo
Adagio
Trio allegretto
Vivace
Herbert Wotrteich, violist, collaborating

The so-called "Russian" quartets of Haydn comprising Opus 33 are the lightest of all the master's nature comedies. In keeping with this Haydn quartet, the quartet, prefaced the playing with a story that is told of Haydn and this particular work (No. 2). It seems that Haydn was vexed that many ladies to show their friendly feeling interrupted his quartet with applause, and decided to play a trick on them in the final movement of Opus 33, No. 2, the ending of which eloquently demonstrated Haydn's intention. One felt he wrote it with his tongue in his cheek. In any event Mr. Celestia, violist, and the lightness of the work itself put the audience, in a mood of gaiety and relaxation, full ready to enjoy the remainder of the program in its entirety. It has to be said, however, that the Quartet did not play this particular Haydn number with the usual devotion given to Haydn. However, as the program progressed the performers swung into their best form.

The miscellaneous group held much interest, particularly through Mr. Jaffe's arrangements. This was the second violinist of the Quartet displays a real flair for this sort of thing, and more arrangements from his facile pen are anticipated. Beethoven's "Country Dance" was done with sensitive feeling for the folk atmosphere. The Debussy number was given with verve, but it was the Milhaud composition which proved the most intriguing of the arrangements. An ultra-modern writing, one might say, the muted strings only served to bring out its haunting dissonance and haunting hints of melody at their best. It was repeated in response to the insistent applause Milhaud, who is prominent among the modern writers of today, heads the Music Department of Mills College in Oakland, California.

It is always a matter of pleasure when the Quartet repeats the Turina number, a work originally written for four lutes, and possessing true Spanish feeling. Rich in color, the Quartet plays the work with its muted strings in particular, with singular beauty. The ending is effective.

The Brahms Quintet made a thrilling close. It is a magnificent work with a thousand nuances of tone color and of dynamics, teeming with life and constant contrast. The second and third movements are of almost incredible beauty. Mr. Wotrteich, making his first public appearance in Rockport, played extremely well, the two violas giving an added richness and depth to the texture of the writing.

In the audience were noted many noted personages of the musical world—Efrem Zimbalist, violinist, director of The Curtis Institute of Music; Samuel Barber, Gian Carlo Menotti, and H. H. Wetzler, composers; Zlatko Balkovic, violinist; Carlos Salzedo and Marjorie Call Salzedo, harpists; Mme. Elisabeth Schumann, soprano, and others.

The program for the concert of Aug. 9 will be:

Quartet in D major, Opus 18, No. 1, Beethoven
Dances for Harp and Quartet, Debussy
Janet Putnam, collaborating
Quartet in A minor, opus 29, Schubert

The innovation of a harpist as a collaborating artist is an interesting one, and particularly so to have the artist Miss Putnam, who is one of the outstanding members of the Summer Harp Colony of America, directed in Camden by the world renowned harpists, Carlos Salzedo and Marjorie Call Salzedo. Miss Putnam, who inherited her harp playing, music gift from her mother began the study of the harp at the age of 13, soon after studying with Alice Chalfoux, that fine artist whom Camden music lovers will long remember for her contribution to some of the most successful concerts organized in that town.

In 1938 Miss Putnam took a competitive examination at The Curtis Institute of Music and was awarded a scholarship to study with Mr. Salzedo. Her stay at Curtis has been marked by significant achievements. For the past three seasons she has been affiliated with the Barton Harp Quartet founded and directed by Mary Jane Mayhew (Mrs. Barton), also well known through Camden concerts.

Miss Putnam has toured a large portion of the United States, and has been affiliated with three orchestras as first harpist—the Curtis Symphony Orchestra under Fritz Reiner; the Scranton (Pa.) Symphony Orchestra under George Sebastian; and the National Youth Orchestra of Philadelphia under Louis Vynor. The crowning point of her career, however, is her recent appointment as head of the Harp Department of the New School of Music founded last Spring in Philadelphia by Max Aronoff and his colleagues of the Curtis String Quartet The Debussy "Dances" for harp and string quartet will have its first performance in Camden at Rockport, in the Aug. 9th program.

As stated before, arrangements for tickets may be made in advance by calling Orlando Cole (tel. Camden 2445). Tickets will also be on sale at the door which opens a short time before the concert hour of 8:15—by Gladys S. Heistad.

A Surprise Whist

Given In Honor of Mrs. Verna Thomas On Her Birthday

Mrs. Verna Thomas entertained the Weate Club at bridge Wednesday night at her home on Brewster street, with what turned out to be a surprise party for her birthday which also fell on the same date.

A lovely luncheon of moulded sandwiches, chips, iced tea, relishes, sweetheart cookies was much enjoyed as was a beautiful daffodil birthday cake, which was made by Mrs. Carolyn Stewart. The color scheme in the dining room was rather unique in green and yellow with a lovely colored Queen Anne lace table cover which made an effective centerpiece, flanked by various colored candles in star shaped glass holders.

Bridge followed and honors were won by Mrs. Phyllis Leach, Mrs. Clara Curtis and Mrs. Susan Spear. Traveling prize was won by Mrs. Dorothy Baxter.

Just before luncheon was served Mrs. Thomas was presented with a lovely basket of gifts, even being remembered by Mrs. The 7-year-old clear black cat which is a member of this household, but no relation to "The Black Cat."

The guests wished Mrs. Thomas many more happy birthdays. Others in attendance were Mrs. Audrey Teel, Mrs. Elizabeth Gilbert, Mrs. Evangeline Sylvester, Mrs. Virginia Crockett, Mrs. Bowley substituted for Mrs. Thomas.

CHURCHES

SERMONETTE

Ordained To Seek And Save
While on his third missionary journey, the Apostle Paul came to Ephesus and there he found certain disciples. He came rather bluntly but pointedly to the subject of their discipleship, much as modern ministers test the soundness of religious faith and doctrines of a candidate for the ministry before ordaining him.

"Have ye received the Holy Ghost since ye believed?" Paul must have been surprised for they answered, "We have not so much as heard whether there be any Holy Ghost."

"Unto what then were ye baptized?" And they said, "Unto John's baptism."

Then Paul said, "John verily baptized with the baptism of repentance, saying unto the people that they should believe on him which should believe on him, that is on Christ Jesus."

When they heard this, they were baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus. And when Paul laid his hands upon them the Holy Ghost came on them.

Note the directness of Paul's approach. Is it not the same straightforwardness used centuries afterward by Rev. Isaac Case in his missionary journeys in Maine? The foundation laid here by Paul led to his staying among them for two years and teaching daily in the great school of Tyranus.

Too often church members leave the baptismal waters and throughout their length of days never give substantial evidence that "they have so much as heard whether there be any Holy Ghost."

—William A. Holman

Another Memory Man

Tells of Old Political Days, and Advocates the Divine Way

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

When the mail brought the July 28th issue of The Courier-Gazette it was snatched by a member of my family (which is often the case) when Iree's write-up was read and brought forth the expression, "The Memory Man has a fine article in The Courier-Gazette." Well, I read it over twice and it did seem to me that he did outdo himself a bit, saying it without any discredit to all his other contributions. However, his political experience, and his dissertation on human nature was a wide diversion from people and things which has been his accustomed trend in his writings.

When Iree described his political argument, it carried me away back in my teens—when the old ballot system was in order. In those days it was a common thing to see men of opposite political faiths gather in the street and get so "hot" that it seemed as if they might come to blows. My father was a great hand to argue, and a great reader, mostly the literature that supported his own political views. Growing up under that influence I became so prejudiced and thought surely there could be no good come from the opposition, and it took years of self-training to rid myself of that mischievous fallacy.

In those old times we boys delighted in the "Old Town House," now converted into a garage, and see the "fun," as we thought it. Each party had its own ballots printed and henchmen scattered around to distribute them to the voters as they came along. Some of them pretty wiggly from the excitement of the vote making for the ballot box followed by a henchman, who kept watch until the ballot was cast. By that we knew that voter had sold himself for a paltry sum or perhaps a quantity of liquor.

Some funny episodes often occurred. One man, so dim of eyesight that he couldn't read, depended on a certain man of his party for the right vote mistook a man of the opposition for his party, who handed him a vote, which he deposited. When told what he had done he exclaimed, "Can't I get the plaguey thing out no way?"

But the die was cast and nothing left to assuage his sad feelings. Another cute trick played to my remembrance was like this: A party worker on his way to the polling place saw a voter cutting bushes behind the road. Asking the bushman if he was going to vote he got the reply: "Yes, so and so gave me $2 to vote his party ticket." "I'll give you $2 if you won't go," said the other, and the offer was accepted. Neither the close of the poll, the first purchaser found his hireling had not appeared, so he hustled around to get a team to go after him. The second purchaser offered to bet $2 that he wouldn't get him and it was readily covered. To the delight of the s. p. the man couldn't be found, as it evened up his financial score.

Is the world growing worse? Not at that time at least. The good Book says: "Say not thou, What is the cause that the former days were better than these? for thou dost not inquire wisely concerning this."

Human nature is one of the unchangeable traits of life; divine nature is another, the two composing the whole being, carrying on a continual enemy between them. We all possess both in various degrees. Jesus was "tempted in all points as we are, and yet without sin," the only man born of woman who yielded not to the tempter's snare. We meet others in the walks of life who seem to measure up to that standard, like Nathaniel, of whom Jesus said, "Behold an Israelite indeed in whom there is no guile." On the other hand, there are others who fall to exhibit in the conduct the fruits of Christian living. And there are still others whose conduct is between the two extremes.

Well, we all have the will-power to choose for ourselves, one of the best gifts from God to man! It costs more effort to climb for the divine than for the human nature which is the "line of least resistance."

It is easy to spend money but hard to earn it. It is easier to loll time away than to conserve it for good use. To do right pays much better in the end. Human nature wants to appear something that it isn't. If it is rich, it wants to appear poor, and vice versa. Divine nature conceals nothing. Although it may cost us more, may we all be so wise and fortunate as to choose the Divine way!

Camden Theatre

Leslie Howard, the star of numerous film hits, returns to the screen in one of his most exciting roles as the hero in "Mister V," which will be at Camden Theatre Sunday and Monday. The story highlights the adventures of Prof. Horatio Smith, a teacher of archaeology at Cambridge, who, single-handed, stages and engineers daring escapes of anti-Nazis from inside Germany. WITH THE EXTENSION AGENTS AND THE KNOX-LINCOLN FARM BUREAU

Agricultural Notes

Farm checkers in connection with the Agricultural Conservation Program for 1942 will start this month. The checkers this year are: Knox County, Harold Allen, Hope; H. B. Cunningham, Washington; Philip Seckins, Thomaston; and Kendall Criff, Cushing; Lincoln County, Herbert Spear, North Nobleboro; Francis Reed, Waldoboro; Norris Waltz, Damariscotta; Arthur Paquet, North Edgecomb, and Merion Everson, Dresden. All conservation materials must be applied by Sept. 1, otherwise the men will be charged for it.

Donald Johnson, Jefferson, owner of the Enright orchard, has a very good crop of apples this year. They are also quite free of scab. In most orchards of the county the crop is small and a lot of scab.

The pasture plots at the farm of Wallace Spear & Son, North Nobleboro, where ladino clover was used, are looking very well and have produced a lot of feed this year. Part of one plot was seeded on the frozen ground with good results. They also have a fertilized plot that has produced a lot of feed. They feel, however, that the ladino clover is more satisfactory. They have about two acres more that will be put into ladino clover.

With The Homes

Over 500 canning demonstrations have been given to date in different communities of Knox and Lincoln counties since July 14 and by the end of the campaign it is estimated that a total of 75 will have been given.

Mrs. Helen Dana of Thomaston, and Mrs. Leona Shiles, of Rockland, have each completed a month of work to this canning program. Miss Anna Simpson, 4-H club agent is assisting with the demonstrations and the full time home demonstration agent is dependent on a certain man of his party for the right vote mistook a man of the opposition for his party, who handed him a vote, which he deposited. When told what he had done he exclaimed, "Can't I get the plaguey thing out no way?"

Open House Day

Ancient Wiscasset Will Reveal Its Treasures To the Public August 12

The annual Wiscasset Open House Day will be held Aug. 12 from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m., for the benefit of the Wiscasset Public Library and the Village Improvement Society.

About 20 of the finest houses will be open. They date from the last of the 18th through the first part of the 19th centuries, at which time Wiscasset was a thriving seaport and the most important shipping center east of Portsmouth.

Most of the houses were built by sea captains and many of them are lived in today by their direct descendants who have inherited their belongings. The architectural features range from the Colonial settler cottage to the larger Georgian and early American types to be found in New England seaports. Circular stairways, elaborately carved woodwork both inside and out, make a splendid monument to the painstaking workmanship of the day.

In many of the old houses much of the early rare china and glass are still in place. The houses have been well kept up, and most of them have very quaint and lovely gardens. The arrangement of cut flowers in the houses is now famous throughout the county.

Luncheon at noon and tea in the afternoon will be served at a nominal price, making it easy for the guests to spend the day. The houses to be opened have been numbered in the order in which it is the most convenient to see them, eliminating as much walking as possible.

ator, nevertheless, dares to go to Berlin and to attend an elaborate reception at the British Embassy, where he comes face to face with the Gestapo chief.

How he manages to keep his identity secret and to accomplish his dare-devil business provides "Mister V" with scenes of continuous suspense and breath-taking drama. The climax of the story unfolds with terrific impact on the Swiss border, when the hero at long last is finally caught by the Gestapo and once again outwits them.

An experiment by the North Dakota college of agriculture revealed that a hen's egg production was reduced 50 percent by a 25 percent cut in her feed.

Guardians of Our Coast
Time seems to travel away from us these fine days. The first thing we know we are behind, a week has passed and it is time to consider our dues to the paper.

Every week we take time to say, "Hello everybody" just to be sociable, keep the ball rolling and help Guardians of our Coast. Not much has happened the past week. Very quiet here until Sunday late afternoon when business seemed to pick up and the crowd began to assemble for the picnic lunch. Present were Miss Elizabeth Sterling, Torrington Point, Peaks Island, Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Sterling Jr., daughter Ann Walker, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dow and E. C. Stoddard of Portland, the keepers and their families.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills. Used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

On Old Friends

George Wardwell, Visiting In Rockland, Makes Side Trip To Stockton Springs

George S. Wardwell, 85 years old, of East Weymouth, Mass., has recently been a caller on friends in Stockton Springs. Mr. Wardwell well upholds the traditions of his family for longevity and ability.

He came to Stockton from Castine with his family, a lad of 12, and spent his youth and young manhood, living near and working in the Crocker Shipyard under his father, who was master builder there. At an early age he followed in his father's steps and became a master builder as did his brother John Wardwell, 90 of Rockland, whom he is visiting at his home there.

Like their father both of the brothers have enviable records in this mechanical art, for who can look at the beautiful lines of one of the Wardwell ships and call their trade, less than artistry. Master Builder George Wardwell built vessels both in the Stockton Springs yard and at Sandy Point during the last war and has built from Maine to Florida and back again, having to his credit, over a 100 craft ranging from full riggers, steamers and schooners, to yachts, for he was with the famous Lawley's for a long period, and in the designing of yachts he excelled.

Among his old friends in town are Mrs. Everett S. Grant of New Haven, who is at her Summer place, and in her 80th year, Levi S. Griffin, 87, and Mrs. Jennie Morse Brags, 86, Mrs. Herbert L. Hopkins, 86, with a score of more well in their seventies.

IF YOUR TANK RUNS DRY
But If It Should Happen Here's What You Should Do

Attention, motorists. The State Office of Price Administration hopes you won't get stalled on the road anywhere because your tank has run dry, but if that should happen to you, here's what you may do.

Run, walk or get a lift to the nearest gasoline station, present your ration book to the attendant and tell him your problem. He keeps your book and sells you some gas in a container. Then, when you drive back to his station, he will remove the appropriate number of coupons and return the book to you.

The distance you have to walk to do this is not rationed. It is only a matter of how lucky you are.

Of course, if you have run out of coupons as well as gas that's something else again.

Work For Everyone
Is Freeman Young's Ambition—Mistakes Made He Admits

Rockland, Aug. 5. Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

More or less fault has been found about those working in civilian defense, so perhaps an explanation should be made. It is easy to see the faults of others and to criticize, but why criticize when the only thing one has to do is offer to help in his own way.

So far as I know, not one person is receiving one penny for his services, and surely it's not personal financial gain that this is being done.

However, the same people who helped get the sardine factories, the new factory at the North End, the Snow Shipyards and other things, so those who were living in Rockland who wanted work could find it, are among those who were interested in Rockland and its people. These same people are still working for Rockland and its people.

Of course we have made mistakes; of course we will make mistakes. We will try to be of every assistance to Rockland possible. Rockland still needs more industries. We have ample room and a chance to grow. Rockland can be as large as the citizens want it to be.

Some day the sun will emerge from the dark clouds that obscure the world with the horror of war, and at that time, will it not be helpful to each of us if we have work for everyone of us.

Again may I repeat, we have made mistakes, but we have made some gains for Rockland.

WASHINGTON—AND YOU
By Margaret Chase Smith

Washington, Aug. 5—It is expected that officers of the armed services will soon be distributing postcards to individuals in the armed services, including women, so that they may cast absentee ballots. These postcards must be sent to the Secretaries of States of the various States, who will send, in return, ballots and a form on which the individual may make affidavit that he is a qualified voter of the State of his residence.

This applies only to continental United States because Congress, in passing the bill, could not see how it would be possible to extend the system to persons outside this country. Not even Alaska is included. Even if the Senate passes this bill as is expected, the time is especially short for Maine voters because we have our election in September. All other States vote in November. Families of Maine soldiers and sailors, nurses, W.A.A.C.'s and Naval Auxiliaries, can help by urging them to get their postcards promptly.

In the House, 134 Members voted for the bill making it possible for all those in the service of the country on this continent to vote, and only 10 voted against it in a division vote. I voted for it, feeling it a privilege to do everything to have these defenders of the country participate in its government.

Maine and many other States have absentee voting provisions, but this will make it easier, and the bill makes registration unnecessary for the services.

Trying to convert ourselves from free enterprise into a war time regulated economy is a complicated business. Every mail brings to my office letters about confusions, lags, conflicts, injustices. The only thing to do is to try to iron each one out as soon as possible to see if the system we have set up can be made to work smoothly and serve the war effort.

The pressure cookers for the canning centers in Maine were a sample. When State officials wrote me that Governor Sewall had allocated money for canning projects over the State, but that they were not getting the pressure cookers they needed, I took the matter up with the manufacturer. His reply tells a story that is quite common. The War Production Board allotted this company a definite amount of material to make pressure cookers. The company made and sold all that allotment.

In the beginning the cookers were sent out in the order of application received. The W.P.B. began to issue priority ratings, and the manufacturer began to fill orders according to what priority the applicant had. Still later W.P.B.

When a constituent wrote asking if I could get news of a niece, who is the wife of an officer in the Philippine Army, I searched the War Department but found that there was no information about the personnel in the Philippine Army. If such a plan succeeds, we hope that communications can be opened between our people in the Philippines and their families here.

OVER THE TOP FOR VICTORY with UNITED STATES WAR BONDS & STAMPS

JUNK
needed for War

"What's it good for?"
"Guns, tanks, and maybe part of a plane"

In the attics and cellars of homes, in garages, tool sheds, and on farms, is a lot of Junk which is doing no good where it is, but which is needed at once to help smash the Japs and Nazis.

Scrap iron and steel, for example. Old radiators, lengths of pipe, refrigerators, garbage pails, broken garden tools...

It may be rusty, old "scrap" to you, but it is actually refined steel, with most impurities removed—and can be quickly melted with new metal in the form of pig iron to produce highest quality steel for our war machines.

Even in peacetime our Nation relied on scrap to provide about 50% of the raw material for steel. Now production of steel has gone up, up, UP, until today America is turning out as much steel as all the rest of the world combined.

But unless at least 6,000,000 additional tons of scrap steel is uncovered promptly, the full rate of production cannot be attained or increased; the necessary tanks, guns, and ships cannot be produced.

The rubber situation is also critical. In spite of the recent rubber drive, there is a continuing need for large quantities of scrap rubber. Also for other waste materials and metals like brass, copper, zinc, lead, and tin.

America needs your active assistance in rounding up these materials. The Junk which you collect is bought by industry from scrap dealers at established, government-controlled prices.

Will you help?
First—collect all your waste material and pile it up.

Then—sell it to a Junk dealer, give it to a charity, take it yourself to the nearest collection point, or get in touch with your Local Salvage Committee.

If you live on a farm, consult your County War Board or your farm implement dealer.

Throw YOUR scrap into the fight!
